Content Producer and Social Media Manager

PROFILE

Content producer and recording artist who built and runs a six figure content studio. I create short form video at volume and grow channels from zero, with an estimated 10 million plus combined views across client accounts, a personal brand averaging 200,000 views a month, and communities built from nothing. I own the full cycle, from trend research and scripting to filming, editing, publishing, and the analytics behind it, and I deliver published ready content independently.
